VI. Open Student Forum I

Logan Cummings: Hi my name is Logan Cummings here at WVU. I know some of you know I have a TikTok, this is for some of you who don't know. I have a TikTok called Maximilian Bobby Fan or Logan C. on TikTok. If you want, please follow my TikTok. I would love to get 100,000 followers by January 2024. So I can plan for things like get a house around here or an apartment around here. So I can have a social life ahead of me like going to see celebrities and just meeting friends and have friends over. Just to have a social life and a good life ahead of me. Just follow and share with your friends and family about my TikTok. Thank you.

VII. The President's Report

President Santmyer: I am going to be meeting with Provost Reed about any issues.

Anything such as scheduling issues, departments, or things like that. Just send me things and I can add them. I added some things we talked about in our brainstorming session. If you have anything to bring to her attention, please reach out to me. Even if they are miniscule. This past Tuesday, we had the campus carry subcommittee. It is definitely a very complicated implementation because it is a bill. There are a lot of things you have to think about. Many exceptions and a lot of different scenarios and things like that. I am going to see if Travis can come explain the bill either the next meeting or the meeting after. We can have a discussion on that. I know twenty of you liked the message I sent, so that isn't really a small group anymore. Friday I am meeting with the chancellor to talk about my role there and working on my role there and why people want to stay in the state and things like that. I am presenting to the advisory council of faculty on zoom for that. If you have anything let me know, I will not be having my office hours next week. You can text me if you need something.

VIII. The Vice President's Report

No report was given

IX. Assembly Reports

College Senator Oursler: I do want to apologize for running over in the Strategic Initiatives Committee. But there were some really good conversations and I think we are going to schedule a second meeting with them in their office. The Chief of Police is coming to the Strategic Initiatives Committee next week. I am meeting with the director of transportation next week, and the following week I will be meeting with the director of environmental health and safety. If anyone has any concerns or questions, please let me know so I can bring it up during those meetings. A lot of fun, big topics will probably be talked about during those. Another thing that happened this week was Rob stepping down from Strategic Initiatives VP. So if there are any student concerns you hear from that, or the restructuring may go, please let me know. I am trying to set up a meeting to discuss with the admin about that, but no promises. If there are questions or concerns please let me know because I would like to bring that up and have student input be taken in to this reconstruction settlement.

College Senator Lipkovitch: The College of Applied Human Sciences senators met with the dean last Friday to talk about moving forward with the college. The first thing we touched on was academic transformation and teach out. Along with transparency and some of the specifics of academic transformation. I know I am not in a program that is affected by academic transformation. She said there was a lot more communication with students who were directly impacted. So if anyone is in a program impacted by academic transformation and doesn't feel that that information is spread to them specific in that program, you should go to your program coordinator about that. We also talked about the teacher crisis. The school of education is within the College of Applied Human Sciences. I know we brought it up at the informal session about working with the state legislature about what we can do. She said there have been some changes in the school of education from academic transformation. They are working with mental health professionals to work on getting teachers prepared to work in a field that has to work through burnout. Teachers are dropping out of the profession for reasons such as that. The second thing is they are having mandatory meetings with first semester sophomores to give them a reality check about the reality of being a teacher to make sure people really want to be teachers before they go into the profession. A lot of this stems of the fact that teacher production isn't necessarily down, but teacher retention is. Producing more teachers won't really resolve the issue. We just need to keep the teachers who are already teaching, teaching. It isn't enough to get more people in the program, but to make sure they will stick with teaching. The third thing is that the school of education lost three grad programs. One of the biggest things they said teachers are citing when leaving the profession is having bad administration. So right now the state of West Virginia does not have a graduate program in education administration, so we would be the first one in the state and hopefully that would help retrain teachers and build stronger connections between teachers and administrations. The last thing that we touched on was this platform that is called You at WVU. It is kind of set up like social media. It has a comprehensive and accessible list of services that WVU provides. Anything from career services to LGBTQ services, sexual and reproductive health services, religious groups. If you want access but aren't sure how to find these services, this platform is a really easy way to find those. It is a good way to push out resources for people who might need them.

College Senator Bielinski: First of all, the Carruth Center is working on their Downtown Campus presence. But in order to do so, they have to be able to have a larger staff so once they get more veteran staff, they will be having a presence in Downtown. They already have space for four to six offices down here. One thing the director talked about was the TalkSpace app. For any of you who don't know what that is, it is for anyone who is not in the state currently, as a licensed therapist you cannot give therapy to anyone who is not in the state you are currently licensed to give therapy in. So I am working on improving its effectiveness. They said anyone in SGA who wants to work on the app, reach out to me and I can help with that. They also are open to coming to events with SGA. They also want to host something with the members and apprentices with food and maybe a craft. Some of the staff and director would come to that event. Another thing is they are not open on weekends due to staff. Once again, the staff would likely quit if it were open on weekends. Most other therapy places are not open on weekends. Due to lower pay, it is already harder to keep people there. It isn't feasible in the current situation they have. They do have a workaround for this. They are open until seven on Monday-Thursday so students are able to come after normal class time. Once again staff problems are due to lower pay or better hours at other job opportunities. They also have trouble with getting the staff to promote the Carruth Center because the staff wouldn't want to take on the extra hours and it would be more money to pay them to go table. Events that they do, they used to have 50-60 people but now they maybe have 10-15. They want our help trying to figure out ways to increase presence at these events. If anyone has any ideas that could help let me know. I know trying to get people to come to events is so difficult so if anyone has any ideas, please reach out to me and we can discuss. Also, most clients are in person and not on zoom. The director is a fan of having as much in person stuff as possible and trying to avoid zoom setting. Another thing we touched on briefly is mental health absences. It is tricky for them to work with because if you go to the Carruth Center and request to have a mental health absence signed, they cannot do that if you do not go to the Carruth Center. Professors are iffy on that anymore, because students abuse that to not come to class. That is something the Carruth Center is working on with faculty and staff to figure something out. If you have any specific questions, please reach out to me.

X. Committee Reports

1. Strategic Initiatives Committee

College Senator Oursler: So the Strategic Initiatives Committee did endorse the resolution that is on the floor tonight at today's meeting. We also met with the director for corporate relations and the director for career services. In a joint meeting because they work so closely together. We will likely have a secondary meeting. All of the notes for the meeting will be in the drive later. Career Services was one of the few departments that saw more investment. They hope to expand with this investment. They currently only have career counselors for all twenty plus thousand students here on campus. They usually have eight, but if they went by the national standard, they should have 18-24. So that just shows you that we do not have a lot of ability. They have been working really hard with that. This is a common theme with every department we have met with, and with us. Reaching students is what they spend 50% of their budget on. They still have low student turnout. I don't know how we remedy this, but if we could figure out a solution, we would be the smartest cool cats here at the university. A big thing they are pushing now is micro credentials. I think this is a solution to what Ian brought up with integrating industry needs into curriculum. They literally were asking Ian to tell them what he wanted and what companies he wanted them from. They said they would reach out and add it into the micro credentials. I think there is some work when it comes to student input here and industry input and collaboration. That may be something we pursue here soon. The micro credentials isn't just for STEM, but they want to do stuff for history, language, etc. They had a lot of ideas and it was a good meeting. I am sorry it took too long.

XI. Executive Reports

Attorney General Miller: I just want to let you guys know we finished up a bill based off of what was said on the floor. Obviously I don't think everyone is going to be happy but that is how it goes I guess. Just look at it, I think it is going to be done pretty soon. It is going to be up next week. It is a lot less bold than the ones in the past. We changed a lot less based on feedback and our discussions here. I will let you guys know when it is finalized and you guys can look at it.

Elections Chair Weller: Expect the Elections Committee application to go out next week. I am hoping for around 12 people. Anyone who is a senior can do it or someone who will not affiliate themselves with any candidates or campaigns. I encourage you to apply because I can use all of the help that I can get. The Elections Committee helps the Elections Chair and the Attorney General run the election. They act as poll workers, help with events, candidate outreach. We will look over violations, expenditure reports. It isn't that much work aside from formal campaigning. I encourage you all to apply.

Chief of Staff Long: My reports are usually short, but I am going to be living up to my last name tonight. In case you all didn't know, we will be doing a bonding event on Sunday at 2:00pm at Coopers Rock. After this report, I am going to be sending a sheets link to sign up if you would like to drive people for carpooling. It is going to be lots of fun. We are going to hike, see some native plants maybe. Also on Monday at 7:00pm we are hosting another internal event where we can talk with various student government alumni. It should be very interesting and inspiring. I know some of us have already spoken with some of them and have gotten some incredible insights and stories. It will be on zoom. The link is on the calendar. Also this week I am getting together some of the tools and building up for the Share-a-Swipe event. I met with Evan Jacobson of Sodexo, and passed along a message from that meeting, if you all want to work with Sodexo or dining services, or one of them to speak at the meetings, they would be more than happy to do so. They are very hungry for student input as College Senator Oursler could attest. I know he is becoming sort of a theme throughout this report. But that wasn't intentional.

Legislative Affairs Liaison Buxton: Three things really quick, our meet and greet is 95% finalized with state and local officials. It is going to be November 27th at 7:00pm. I have emailed eight state officials so far, I have five yesses, one no, and two have not gotten back to me yet. There will be refreshments. It will be in the ballroom. Legislative town halls, the first one is next week, November 7th on Evansdale. The second one is the week after that in the Shenandoah Room downtown. Please come or repost the graphic. Finally we are still seeking letters for the federal work study program. I have submitted a graphics request so when that comes out, I would really appreciate it if you guys could repost it. Or if you know anyone who qualifies for it, have them write a letter.

Internal Senates Liaison Pierce: The Faculty Senate Library Committee met today and I was not able to attend, but Senator Frazier did an amazing job with taking notes.

The topic of discussion was how academic transformation has affected the library. The library has had to reduce by $800,000. That is based on restricted organization to deliver library services in a more efficient manner. They have been asked to reevaluate the physical footprint of the WVU library system and determine opportunities for condensing spaces across campus to conserve the budget. So far they reduced by $337,000 so they have roughly $400,000 to cut to get to the $800,000 goal. I do not think that is as large as it sounds. One of the major things that came from that was the dissolution of the Student Library Advisory Group. They were preoccupied with the transformation process, but they are eager to bring it back. They asked if SGA would work to reinstate the group. They seem excited about it. Hopefully they will reach out to Senator Fraizer, and we can get that reestablished. We could maybe get some senators and executives in on that advisory group. Friday we had the round table discussion with the faculty senate staff council and GPSS. From that we came up with our five initiatives that we will send to Speaker Hansaw. That would be: 1) increasing funding for the first descent program through things such as taxing rebates, housing vouchers, surveys 2) food insecurity and lobbying for hunger-free campus act 3) mental health and opioid addiction crisis, thinking about starting an addiction support group on campus and getting collegiate recovery involved with that. Along with establishing narcotic training and CPR training across the state 4) public education, dealing with math proficiency issues and teacher shortages 5) sustainability. That is what we will pitch to him, and we will write a couple paragraphs each. Hopefully we will have some good work come out of that. Upcoming initiatives, hopefully I am going to schedule a meeting with Richard Thomas, faculty senate leadership to the GPSS president, and President Santmyer to address how the faculty senate could help the attraction for graduate students and their concerns about the loss of graduate student assistantships and mentor pairings. That has been a big problem since the beginning of the academic transformation process. I hope to set up one more meeting with career services about the possibility of implementing screening interviews during career fairs. This would mean sitting down with an employer, and they would do a screen interview. Not an official interview for the job itself, but just an interview to kind of decrease the interview pool. You would do an official interview if you got through the screening interview. I think that is a good idea, a lot of other colleges do. Since employers are already on campus, we thought that would be a good opportunity to get more attraction with employers while career fairs are going on.

Social Media Coordinator McGrogan: I just wanted to let you guys know that Chief of Staff Long moved the social media request for. It is under the social media executive file in the drive. It is still pinned in the GroupMe. I want to remind you to be very descriptive in your requests. I am not the brightest, so I need some extra help. Thanks

Policy Coordinator Blair: Execs, I just sent you all a form on GroupMe. It is the last step in getting people connected with their interests and resources. With everyone filling these out, I am going to work to connect people with similar interests and similar goals. If you have people reaching out, or I tell you to have a chat with a particular person, it isn't because I am trying to set you all up on a date or something. I think you could really benefit from working together so please do take that seriously. I have an excel sheet in the drive titled "Policy Interests" and it has all the legislation you all have either written, are working on, or sponsored. Your platform interest, policy interests, and person interests. I just want to make sure everyone is working together.

XIV. Open Student Forum II

Senator Coulter: Tomorrow in the lair at 6:00pm., the Appalachian Advocacy Network is partnering with the university during Mountaineer Week to host a fun little Appalachian trivia night. It will be set up how they do at UpAllNight. They have four different $100 price packs to give away. If you come, you will get to see me hosting the trivia, so you should come.

Senator Lutman: I know there is the Cooper's Rock bonding session on Sunday, but Alpha Phi has Mac and Phi on Sunday. It is $5 for all you can eat mac and cheese from 11-3:00p.m. If you have time, please come and eat some yummy mac and cheese.

XV. Advisors' Reports

Thanh Le: We have started the toy mountain. We will be going the entire month of November collecting toys that will go to the youth of Monongalia County. We have a contest for student organizations. The organization that contributes the most toys will receive a grant from our office. We will also be collecting toys at the basketball games on the 7th and the 14th. We want to help out and provide for our community. We want to raise over 700 toys this year. We also have an amazon wishlist if you do not know what to provide. We do a box-it-up for Thanksgiving initiatives to give out thanksgiving boxes for students in need. We have a lot of people already signed up. The Thursday and Friday before Thanksgiving break. Encourage you friends to sign up if they want a box. Also, when it comes to formatting legislation, all of that will be taken care of by the vice president before it is sent out. Since it doesn't change the essence of the bill, it doesn't need to be amended. Just let Susie, Brogan or Jill know if you see anything that may ever need fixed and they can get that done.

XVI. Snaps

Snaps were given to Senator Leadmon, Logan Pierce, Madison Santmyer, College Senator Henson, College Senator Bielinski, SGA friends who are in the Mountaineers of Distinction.
